THE RT. REV. KARL M. BLOCK, D.D., LL.D.
Bishop

February 25, 1943.

TO OUR MEN IN THE ARMED SERVICES:

The Diocese joins me in this message of affectionate greeting and Godspeed.

We are sincerely proud of the increasing number of those of you who have set out on the difficult and dangerous quest to win a victory which we earnestly pray will make ours a better world for generations to come. Those of us who are older cannot escape a deep sense of self-reproach and repentance for our failure to have spared you the difficult task to which you are now committed. But we pledge ourselves to maintain the integrity of the Home Front and to safeguard the Freedoms for which you are fighting. It is our eager hope that mankind will grow increasingly responsive to the things for which our blessed Lord lived and died, and that our age will be reborn in the crucible of this global war.

Be assured that you are constantly on our hearts and in our prayers. We know that you will conduct yourselves with dignity and valor, remembering always your higher dedication as servants of the Lord Christ. Word comes to us of some who are witnessing for Him in camps and in the field, and that fills our hearts with gratitude.

I feel sincerely humble in offering any word of counsel to those whose imperiled lives have thus far saved us from the tragedies that have befallen other lands. But I cannot forbear to urge upon you the adoption of some simple spiritual rule, some quiet time apart, if only a few moments, when God's presence can become increasingly vivid and a measure of His strength can flow into your souls. One learns to pray by praying. The Bible becomes vocal to its friends. As you become expert in your profession by practise, so the regularity of Bible reading, meditation and prayer will make increasingly luminous the thoughts and guidance of God.

For our part, we pray that you may return safe and sound, unharmed by a life free from the restraints and spiritual intimations of home ties. May God bless and keep you and make your service the means of achieving a just and durable peace.

I close this intimate pastoral letter, haunted by a verse of John Oxenham's:

"Where are you going, Great Heart?
With your eager face and your fiery grace,
Where are you going, Great Heart?
To fight a fight with all my might,
For Truth and Justice, God and Right,
To grace all life with His fair light;
Then God go with you, Great Heart."

Faithfully and affectionately yours,

Karl Marxen Block

Bishop of California.

What Goes On at St. James' Army and Navy Chapel

The following article was contributed by a young man now serving his country in the Army of the United States, and who expresses in his own words what St. James' Army and Navy Chapel at Monterey means to him and his friends. For the past year this little Chapel has been maintained by the Diocese of California under its Army and Navy Commission entirely for the men of the Army and Navy stationed at cantonments near Monterey. The Common Room attached to the Chapel is a beehive of activity not only for men of the service, but as well for young wives who come to Monterey to be as close as possible to their husbands at these western posts from which they will probably leave continental United States for fields of battle. Deaconess Margaret Booz, in charge of the Chapel for the Army and Navy Commission, has won the confidence and friendship of many young men and women, often serving them in distressing problems and winning the highest praise of their Chaplains and commanding officers.

The attention of young men in this Diocese who may be drafted, and of their mothers and fathers, is especially called to St. James' Army and Navy Chapel. Almost all inductees from this area are first sent to the Presidio of Monterey. St. James' Army and Navy Chapel stands near the gates of that post, its address being 362 Pacific Street, Monterey. Deaconess Margaret will offer a warm welcome to the young men who avail themselves of this opportunity.

The evening service was nearing its close. The theme had been the need for unity among Christian peoples. One felt that here he was at least approaching that ideal, for seated at the organ was a Presbyterian. Another of his following had sung the kneeling hymn. It was a Methodist who sang the offertory anthem. Conducting the service and serving as an acolyte-crucifer, were two staunch Episcopalians. In the congregation there was something near to a similar outward religious difference, but pervading it all was the feeling of the need for inner spiritual unity.

The service over, the participants adjourned to the "common room" in the rear. Here followed a leisurely evening of "shop talk," organ music, and refreshments.

Such is a very brief picture of one Sunday evening at St. James' Army and Navy Chapel in Monterey, California. As might be guessed from this, the participants in the service mentioned above were all from our country's armed forces. This evening they happened to be from the Reception Center of the Presidio of Monterey. Men from Fort Ord are nearly always in attendance, and occasionally a sea-struck sailor will make his appearance.

The sponsor and center of all this spontaneous activity is a most delightful churchwoman, Deaconess Margaret Booz. One need not be with her more than thirty minutes before he feels that they have been the closest of friends for years. She it is who arranges the many spiritual and material comforts which we service-men who regularly attend have come to feel are necessary for our morale. This chapel and its religious and social activities are under Deaconess Margaret's able direction, with the Army and Navy Commission of the Episcopal Church as sponsor.

The common room to the rear of the chapel is in every way anti-G.I. (Government Issue). That is to say, it is most homelike. A large couch in front of a great fireplace is so inviting that 11 p. m. always rolls around too soon. A table nearby is fitted with games suitable to every taste. A small library similarly caters to many interests. Here one can find most anything from "The Practice of Religion" to "The Green Powder-Puff Murder Mystery." A well-tuned piano gets almost constant attention from the musically minded, who tend to be in the majority. A small, but remarkably good radio, gratifies many, for here symphonies and similar programs are given preference over "boogy-woogy."

We might be materialists and say that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but it must be admitted that one of the major attractions are the anti-G.I. meals which grace Deaconess Margaret's board. Civic-minded church members generously contribute delicious dishes and Deaconess Margaret ingeniously fills in the missing links with her inimitable gustatory arts. Every Thursday evening a waffle supper attracts droves of hungry soldiers, because waffles are something the Army can never be bothered about. Preceding the Sunday evening service is a buffet supper which assumes the quality of a royal feast with us. So much for the culinary side of the Chapel's program.

Gracing the social gatherings are delightful "Army wives" and a sprinkling of the Peninsula's young ladies. They are most earnest in their efforts to further our entertainment, from accompanying soloists to taking a hand in a rummy game. How their eyes glow when they see us don frilly aprons and annihilate a stack of dirty dishes in the Chapel's most up-to-date little kitchen! "What excellent husbands you will make!" is an oft-heard expression.

Being a Chapel as well as a recreation center for service men, there is an inspiring series of Episcopal services each Sunday. The Holy Communion is celebrated at eight in the morning, either by a Chaplain or by a civilian clergyman of the Peninsula. At seven-thirty in the evening, a service of Evening Prayer or Compline is conducted usually by a soldier from one of the nearby posts. The Chapel itself is most adequately suited to the Army and Navy program. A feeling of oldness fills this House of God. For three-quarters of a century the prayers of the faithful have ascended here to the Almighty, for St. James' is the oldest non-Roman church on the Peninsula. The Chapel's windows

At seven-thirty in the evening, a service of Evening Prayer or Compline is conducted usually by a soldier from one of the nearby posts. The Chapel itself is most adequately suited to the Army and Navy program. A feeling of oldness fills this House of God. For three-quarters of a century the prayers of the faithful have ascended here to the Almighty, for St. James' is the oldest non-Roman church on the Peninsula. The Chapel's windows stand as a memorial to the devotion of one young soldier who labored diligently to glorify God's House. These "windows" were constructed out of oiled paper, and were colored with highly diluted poster paints. The effect is very genuine. A reed organ, which responds remarkably to an understanding touch, adds greatly to the beauty of the services.

Many of the service men are so grateful for the good times they have here that they are most eager to reciprocate in the form of some service. Among these are the musicians who unselfishly contribute their talents in the weekly Church services. One of the former members of our company was quite an original painter in his own right, and two of his works now adorn the walls of the common room. A coffee table has been constructed, ecclesiastical brass polished to G.I. specifications, publicity drawings of the Chapel have been made, photographs of the Chapel's activities have been taken, the kitchen sink varnished, the grounds improved, as well as many other improvements. One dignified young aspirant to the Anglican Priesthood, serving as acolyte, has heightened our Chapel services with colorful ceremonial.

These and many other activities show what a vital center St. James' Army and Navy Chapel is for the service men. Under the most able direction of Deaconess Margaret, it is certain to go on to an even more successful season this year. We who know it hope that many more of our fellows will come to share with us its homelike coziness; will come to share our friendships; and will join with us in the historic worship of the Almighty Lord and Father of mankind in the name of His blessed Son.

The General Noble Center

When the General Noble Center on the grounds of Grace Cathedral was opened there was some doubt in the minds of some as to whether or not it would be used by many service men because of its location and its distance away from Market Street activities. This doubt has now been erased when one opens the "Guest Book" of the Center and sees more than nine thousand names registered there—our Church boys from all parts of the country.

The greatest proof of the value of the Center is seen in some of the letters that some of the men have written back after leaving San Francisco for overseas. One boy writes as follows: "Dear Friends, This is a note to thank you for the pleasure and entertainment I was able to gain from visiting your Center. Many of you know how a group of us from Letterman came back night after night due to the pleasant associations we obtained and the unusual atmosphere. Your Center meets a need that no other type of service club is able to offer and I sincerely hope you will keep it as much along the same lines as you did during the time I visited with you. I am now in Australia and the few books I took from the Center before I left have been read by many boys and will be read by many more before we get through. That is another service that you render that is especially worth while. Books come in very handy to fill in gaps in our spare time. We appreciate more than words can express the service you are rendering to service men."

Another boy writes: "The General Noble Center was the most congenial and friendly place that I found anywhere in the States."

The following quotation comes from the wife of a service man who visited the Center many times while he was in San Francisco: "Dear Friends, I used the above salutation because that is exactly the way I feel toward all of you there for the wonderful work you have done for my husband during his stay at the Presidio in San Francisco. The relaxation and peace he found at the Center was most vital to him. May God bless you and further your efforts. You have my heartfelt thanks."

The Center is open each day from 2 to 11 o'clock at night and has a staff of approximately 225 women who serve in many capacities. Coffee, sandwiches and cake are served until 7:30 free of charge to service men. A supper of coffee and cake or pie is served every night at 9:15. Stationery is provided free and we have a fine library. The boys can take books back to camps and ships with them and if they are suddenly ordered away they can pass the book along to a buddy wherever they go.

The Center is supported by subscribers who pay from $1.00 a month to whatever sum they wish to give. The Center is grateful to all who contribute. The father of a boy living in San Jose sent us $100 at Christmas in appreciation of what the Center had meant to his son.

Prayer for Those Bereaved

Grant, O Lord, to all who are bereaved, the spirit of faith and courage, that they may have strength to meet the days to come with steadfastness and patience; not sorrowing as those without hope, but in thankful remembrance of Thy great goodness in past years, and in the sure expectation of a joyful reunion in the heavenly places; and this we ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Prayer for God's Victory

O Almighty Lord, who art a most strong tower to all them that put their trust in Thee: Be now and evermore our defense; grant us victory, if it be Thy will. Look in pity upon the wounded and the prisoners, cheer the anxious, comfort the bereaved, succour the dying, have mercy on the fallen, and hasten the time when war shall cease in all the world; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

—English Revised Prayer Book.

The Church War Cross

The Episcopal War Cross, issued by the National Army-Navy Commission of our Church and pictured in the cut at the head of this article, is identical with the War Cross given to men of the Episcopal Church in the First World War. Its only distinguishing mark is the notation on the back "World War II." This cross can be obtained by clergy, or parishes, from the Office of the Diocesan House, 1055 Taylor Street, San Francisco. There is no charge for it. The expenses of its issuance are born by the National Commission out of funds contributed by the whole Church in its requests for funds, such as the Offering to be made on March 21 of this year.

Questions are often asked about the symbolism of the cross. No official statement has been made by the Army-Navy Commission, but the crosses are arranged somewhat like those in the official church flag, and are roughly Jerusalem or Tau crosses. The Five-fold Cross, sometimes called the Crusaders' Cross because so often carried on their coat-of-arms, is symbolic of the five wounds of our Lord. And sometimes it is an emblem of the missionary activity of our church; the large cross in the center representing the original church in Jerusalem, and the smaller crosses indicating the four corners of the earth to which Christianity has spread through the church's missionary zeal in obedience to her Lord's command.

Another explanation, less heraldic, but perhaps more immediately pertinent, is that the large circle represents the all-embracing and protective love of God our Father. This love for his children includes the gift and the sacrifice of His Son, Jesus Christ, who, as the legend reads on the large cross "died for thee." So also Our Lord, the pattern of all sacrificial living includes in His love and under His arms the individual Calvaries of each man who offers himself for those he loves, following the statement "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend." And this redemption and freeing of the world from sin, evil, intolerance, suffering, injustice which Our Lord came at a given moment of human history to accomplish, we all share in—both the men in the armed forces and their families at home—for the Cross is timeless, and the work of salvation is progressive and far from finished. But all these things, Our Lord's Sacrifice and our lesser ones, our broken bodies and hearts, too, are comprehended in the affectionate regard and high purpose of our Father.

Several men have expressed a wish that the crosses might be obtainable in silver or in gold. Priorities in metal are sometimes difficult to get for the National Commission, and many times the crosses have been unobtainable for periods of months. It would be possible to have a die made in San Francisco. If individuals in parishes were interested in donating silver or gold for war-crosses for their men and boys, we could then issue this same metal back to those parishes stamped into crosses. Will all parishes or individuals interested in such a possibility please write to the Rev. Frederick Avery, the Chairman of the Diocesan Army-Navy Commission, 1123 De Hiery Street, San Rafael?

"WHICH WAY AHEAD?" the Presiding Bishop's book for Lent, 1943, has been written by Dr. Walter Russell Bowie, formerly Rector of Grace Church, New York, to answer the question, "What may the future hold that ought to be seen and striven for?" Copies may be ordered through your local parish priest or from the Church Book Shop, San Francisco.

* * *

"In my opinion," states the Presiding Bishop, "no one is better qualified to give a lead to Christian people in these difficult times than Dr. Bowie." Bishop Tucker, in his preface to "WHICH WAY AHEAD?" offers suggestions to those who will read, study and discuss this book during Lent. Your local rector or vicar will get a copy for you, or you can order direct from the Church Book Shop, San Francisco.

"To

the dearly beloved;

whose spirit, aglow with the compassion of Jesus, showed how a church may be lifted to that greatness in service which befits the Church of Christ."

The above is Dr. Bowie's dedication of his book, "WHICH WAY AHEAD?", recommended by the Presiding Bishop for Lenten reading and discussion. Order copies through your parish priest or from the Church Book Shop, San Francisco.

The second nation-wide appeal for funds for the Army-Navy Commission of our Church is to be made on Sunday, March 21st. The tragic urgency for religious ministrations to our men and women in the armed forces stands out now as it did not so soon after Pearl Harbor.

We can no longer kneel in the pews and at the altar-rail with our own men and boys. We cannot now reach the yearning unchurched men on our neighborhood streets as we did before. The men in the armed forces, whether churchmen or not, are conscious of their need of God in direct proportion to their proximity to the combat zones. There the things that matter to a man's soul stand out as vital. Our Lord's commands about ministering to those who need is not ambiguous. You cannot go yourself to bring the things of God to your boys or the boys of your neighbors and friends. But you can go vicariously through your gift.

When you give you should picture to yourself your own sons, brothers, husbands; you should see in your soul's eye the relatives of your friends, your neighbors, your associates. You are sending chaplains to them. You send a man of God, to whom in spiritual and moral emergencies they can turn for advice and help, in camps, transports, convoys, combat zones, strange cities, bewildering new places. You send priests who can minister to them the Body and Living Presence of Our Lord in the Church's sacrament, who can pray for and with them before battle, in imprisonment, in discouragement, in boredom and monotony. You furnish Prayer-Books (and would you refuse those who are not Episcopalians their desire for the things that we love so much, but which we have no money to print!). You furnish War Crosses. You give chaplains a discretionary fund, which perhaps is used for one of the over eighteen hundred men who have gone from the Parishes in this Diocese.

You will receive a folder from the Army-Navy Commission through your own Parish. A special offering envelope will be enclosed or available.

THE DATE FOR THE ARMY-NAVY COMMISSION OFFERING IS MARCH 21st. Read the list of names from your own Parish. It will recall familiar faces; acolytes, choristers, Boy Scouts, leaders of your young people's group. They need our companionship in faith now as never before. Think of where they have gone. Think of what they are doing for you. Think of what you have done or are doing for them. And THEN think—"What shall I do in return, for their sake and for God's sake!"

Can Your Parish Supply Some of These

The Army and Navy Commission urgently needs some of the things which you may be able to supply. The following list is suggestive. CHOIR VESTMENTS are needed for St. James' Army and Navy Chapel. The Deaconess in charge reports, "The soldiers love the vestments, and we have a conglomeration of sizes and colors which are truly rags, but they add to the dignity and reverence of the services very much. However, it is hard to keep a straight face when one soldier has a child's cassock pinned around his waist and another one on backwards, with a surplice over all. As he plays the organ, there is fortunately no danger of it falling apart." Have you cassocks and surplices in usable condition, which your Parish might contribute? CHALICES AND PATENS are requested in emergency by Chaplains who arrive in San Francisco, their last touch with their Church. Old silver and a few dollars collected by a group in your Parish would supply one of these Communion Sets which will be used to administer the sacrament to men on far-flung battlefields. CROSSES AND CANDLESTICKS which are not in use are often requested by the Chaplains of transports and Naval vessels. The sentiment which keeps such articles in a dark corner of the Church might well find its expression in sending them to adorn the altar aboard a ship where worship means much to men facing the reality of war. Books are needed by the General Noble Center for its unusual library. Books loaned by this library are not expected to return. A bookplate in each requests the borrower to keep it and hand it to a buddy who may enjoy reading it. But please—readable books, not those you wanted to clear out of the attic, anyhow. If you, or your Parish, can supply any of these articles, please write immediately to the Army and Navy Commission of the Diocese of California, 1055 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Keep Our Loved Ones

Holy Father, in thy mercy,
Hear our earnest prayer;
Keep our lov'd ones, now far distant,
'Neath thy care.
Jesus, Saviour, let thy presence
Be their light and guide:
Keep, O keep them, in their weakness,
At thy side.
When in sorrow, when in danger,
When in loneliness,
In Thy love look down and comfort
Their distress.
May the joy of Thy salvation
Be their strength and stay;
May they love and may they praise Thee
Day by day.

MARTIN SHAW.

From "Forward—Day by Day," to be included in the new Church Hymnal

Convention Knows Its Mind

The ninety-third convention knew its own mind. It admitted women as delegates for the first time, elected some who were nominated from the floor, brought in new names for committees that do not often change, threw out election machines, and after a wobbly start came through with all business to adjourn on time.

Each parish and mission having more than two delegates must send one woman delegate and have a woman alternate for her in 1944. This is a radical innovation, long overdue, which will give women non-proportional representation in the business of the diocese without eliminating the men. The biggest repercussions will probably be in the House of Churchwomen, who will be unable (or unwilling) to meet at the same time as convention with many of its women missing. It has been suggested that the House of Churchwomen join convention for Joint Session but have its regular session the day after convention.

There were many nominations from the floor to supplement those of the nominating committee. Especially for deputites for General Convention the nominating and voting was exciting, and it took three ballots (the last a preferential one) to determine the deputies and their alternates. There were also changes in the Standing Committee and Diocesan Council. The convention elected delegates to Synod and then moved to advise the Synod Council to call it off!

Then there were some speeches. The first was the Bishop's, who listed many fine accomplishments in the various parishes and missions. The usual racial and social work speeches were given, with Henry Ohlhoff's "five minute" speech going on for twenty-five minutes of delightful comic relief which also was straight religion.

Deaconess Elsie W. Riebe held the Joint Session speechless with her fascinating account of the Chinese suffering in Ichang. It was not so much the details of the bombing, which we can see in newspapers, but the evident love which the Deaconess has for her Chinese people, which caught the imagination and fervor of the crowd. Here were no statistics of how many buildings were bombed or churches lost, or even people killed; here were her people, suffering, injured, starving, and her care for them. This was easily the high point of convention.

The Rev. Michael Coleman, acting Vicar of All Hallows, Barking-by-the-Tower, London (the "old city" and not the new), spoke briefly of his work with American soldiers at the Joint Session and at length on "The Church in War Time and After" at the well-attended Diocesan Service on Tuesday evening. He also had a two-day conference with some of the clergy, and addressed the students at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific before leaving for Vancouver, B. C.

The annual dinner, held at Trinity Church, San Francisco, drew a capacity crowd. The Rev. Frederick Avery was in good form as master of ceremonies, and there were a few brief speeches, the meeting concluding with another showing of "No Greater Power."

The results of elections and appointments were as follows:

Deputies to General Convention, Clerical: A. Ronald Merrix, John C. Leffler, Henry H. Shires, D. D., J. Lindsay Patton, D. D.; lay: Clifton Kroll, H. Robert Braden, George Kellogg, Walter Bakewell.

Alternates to General Convention, clerical: Mark Rifenbark, D. D., Very Rev. Thomas H. Wright, D. D., Sumner Walters, Oscar Green; lay: Frank M. Avery, Frank E. Hinckley, A. B. Cargill, Frederick Payne.

Standing Committee, clerical: Mark Rifenbark, D. D., Henry H. Shires, S. T. D., D. D., John Leffler, A. Ronald Merrix; lay: Clifton Kroll, Arthur Towne, H. Robert Braden, S. Waldo Coleman.

Diocesan Council, clerical: John P. Craine, Randolph C. Miller, Ph.D.; lay: Robert Vickery, Arthur Towne.

Secretary: Paul Little, Ph.D.

Treasurer: Walter B. Bakewell.

Delegates to Synod, clerical: Francis P. Foote, Henry M. Shires, J. Henry Thomas, Marius J. Lindloff; lay: Frank M. Avery, S. Waldo Coleman, E. W. Burr, Henry Brown.

Congratulations

Two New Parishes were admitted into union with the Diocese at the recent Diocesan Convention. Trinity Church, Hayward, organized as a Mission, December 4, 1886, has now achieved Parish status and the Rev. T. Cecil Harris becomes the first Rector.

In Richmond, Trinity Mission was organized at Point Richmond in 1903 and St. Edmund's within the city in 1927. Under the leadership of the Rev. Joseph S. Doron these two Missions had operated as one unit for the past two years and in becoming a Parish the name of The Holy Trinity has been adopted. Congratulations to these two new Parishes, their Rectors, and to the Diocese.

Nearly 5,000 copies of the booklet, "WE WOULD REMEMBER," have been circulated in the Diocese to date, according to figures received by the Reverend A. Ronald Merrix from the Forward Movement offices in Cincinnati.

Highlights of Churchwomen Convention

By BEATRICE S. MATTHEWS

Deaconess Elsie W. Reibe! Her deeply moving story of China, before and after tragedy came to the peace-loving, fellow Christians of Ichang, through war. Of the need for continuing relief which can be administered through the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief.

The Right Reverend Robert B. Gooden's address on "Conversion to Christ for World Service" giving stimulation and greater meaning to the discussion that followed on "Race Relations."

Our own Bishop Parsons' address on the need for closer cooperation and uniting of Christian Bodies one with another. The suggestion that Woman's Auxiliaries invite women of Presbyterian Guilds to meetings being a first step.

Mrs. James Otis Lincoln's ever-inspiring meditations on

A one word Creed "Omni-presence."

A one word Prayer "O Lord, give us Courage, Gaiety and a quiet mind."

Three sign posts to show a way of Life: "Faith, Hope and Love."

Cathedral North Tower and Carillon Dedicated

Grace Cathedral's North Tower, with its forty-four bell carillon, was dedicated at a special service on the afternoon of Washington's Birthday. The tower, like the carillon, the generous gift of Dr. Nathaniel Coulson and the fulfillment of his long-cherished dream, is rapidly approaching completion with the placing of the ornamental facing on the east side. Dean Wright gave the dedicatory address in accepting the gift for the Cathedral, and the Bishop gave the prayers of dedication.

Bishop Block, referring to this occasion, said, "Seldom, indeed, has any gift been made to the Church and community more dramatic than the donation of the North Tower and the Coulson Carillon. Dr. Nathaniel Thomas Coulson is one of the few in Christian history who merits the commendation that Jesus gave to the poor widow which for 2000 years glorified an unnamed worshipper in the temple of the Master's day, 'She gave all she had.'

"Rising from the crypt floor of the Cathedral, 279 feet above San Francisco Bay, the Tower stands 177½ feet in height, not including the cross or the foundations. It enshrines forty-four bells, the largest of which is the Bourdon, which weighs six tons. The Bishop of Fulham, perhaps the most noted carillonneur of England, after playing these majestic chimes, pronounced them the finest he had ever played. Each bell has its own individuality, its own designation and a proper inscription. Some record the donor's affection for his friends, whose presence at this service must add greatly to the good Doctor's joy and the fulfillment of a long cherished dream. The completed Tower represents an investment of some $200,000 and it will ever stand as a tribute not only to the donor but to the priority of the things of the spirit. It is well that in a day when the utmost in architecture and artistry is devoted to structures significant of our contemporary materialistic culture we should give of our best for shrines worthy of Him whose life and spiritual presence is the foundation of all we value and treasure most. As the bells ring with their mellifluous message may they sound a call to righteousness and, please God, to the achievement of a just and durable peace."

Due to a last-minute serious illness Dr. Coulson was unable to attend the dedication, but was represented by his two closest friends

Making the Most of Lent

Most people get much more out of a book if they have the opportunity of discussing it with somebody else, however informally. The Forward Movement Commission is encouraging the formation of discussion groups in connection with the Presiding Bishop's book for Lent, 1943—WHICH WAY AHEAD? by the Reverend Dr. Bowie.

Where convenient, these groups may be arranged as part of the program of existing parish organizations. Neighborhood groups may be formed; luncheon groups for men at a downtown restaurant. A discussion group consists of a number of friends who agree to read a book chapter by chapter, and meet together to discuss it under the guidance of a leader. It does not need a mastery of technique to make it a success, but only keenness on the part of the members, and a leader with common sense who will study the book as thoroughly as he can before meeting with the group, and encourage others to take their part in the discussions.

Quiet Day Planned

Conducted by the Rev. Charles Fritz, rector of Trinity Church, Menlo Park, a Mid-Lent Quiet Day for Women will be held at the Church of the Advent, Fell Street, near Franklin, San Francisco, on Saturday, March 27. A simple breakfast served in the Parish Hall will follow the Holy Communion at 9:30 a. m. Those who attend are asked to bring their own box-lunch. The last meditation will end at 3 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all women living in and around San Francisco to avail themselves of this day of recollection.

Help! Help!

The PACIFIC CHURCHMAN business office, in its anxiety to see that everyone entitled to it should receive copies of the Diocese's monthly publication, asked for new lists from every Parish and Mission of persons to receive The PACIFIC CHURCHMAN. Then came the deluge! It was found that a full-time worker would be needed in this department alone to make amends for the failure to keep our lists up to date. Many Parishes and Missions have not corrected their lists over a period of years.

Clergy and vestries should be reminded that new lists are due in January of each year. An easier way for all concerned would be to have all changes of new names and additions sent in each month. We suggest that you adopt this monthly notification.

Only one-third have even now sent us their new lists. As an example of the number of changes necessary, however, one large Parish which had 168 names on its regular list removed forty-five of these and then added 131. Another large Parish had 108 new names and addresses out of a total of 134. One smaller Parish eliminated fifteen names, but added fifty-nine. We plan to be out of the woods by Easter.

Five San Francisco Churches joined in bringing the Rev. Fr. Tiedemann, Vice-Superior of the Order of the Holy Cross, to the city in February for a three-day School of Prayer given at St. Luke's Church. Joining with the home Parish were Grace Cathedral, Trinity, St. Mary the Virgin, and the Advent.

Fr. Tiedemann is recognized as one of our outstanding spiritual directors of the Church and this school met a widespread response.

World Day of Prayer

The twenty-seventh annual interdenominational inter-racial observance of the World Day of Prayer will be sponsored in San Francisco by the Council of Church Women in the Glide Memorial Church, Taylor and Ellis Streets, from 1 to 3 p. m., Friday, March 12th, according to the president of the Council, Mrs. Paul Raymond.

Mrs. W. G. Jamison, who has led the World Day of Prayer Service in seven large cities across the continent, has charge of the program, and will conduct the service in San Francisco.

The music will be directed by the Salvation Army, and Dr. E. Stanley Jones will give the closing address on the theme, "Father, I pray that they may all be one."

Representatives of the different churches on the Council of Church Women and the clergy are asked to publicize the World Day of Prayer in their churches.

Rededication Service: Daughters of the King

Owing to the difficulties of transportation, the Rededication Service, held annually on the Saturday nearest to the Feast of the Purification, February 2, was not held. The Chapters were asked to hold their individual services of Reconsecration. Reports received thus far tell of the service at St. Paul's, Burlingame, where the members met at the Early Service on January 31, the Rev. Francis P. Foote, rector, reading the Office of Rededication. St. Paul's Chapter, Salinas, plans to hold its service, as usual, on Ash Wednesday.

Three valued members have entered into the larger life: From Trinity Chapter, Miss Sophie D. Roberts; from Risen Life Chapter, Mrs. Ethel Hartford, Mrs. Josephine G. Manuell.

St. Cyprian's Presents Noted Baritone

The St. Rita's Guild of St. Cyprian's Church is sponsoring a recital by Joseph James, baritone, at the Community Playhouse, Western Women's Club, Tuesday, March 16th, 8:30 p.m. Mr. James, a native of New Jersey, came west with the Hall Johnson choir and has appeared in several Hollywood productions. Although he is working at the Marinship yards, he still finds time to fill his singing engagements. He has just returned from a recital in Reno, Nevada, where he received the most favorable comment. Mr. James sings over station KGO of the Blue network, every Monday evening at 10:45.

Mr. Alfred Frankenstein of the Chronicle made this comment: "Joseph James might well be described as a kind of baritone version of Roland Hayes. He has the same kind of sensitivity and poetic delicacy for which Hayes was distinguished at the height of his career."

Tickets for this recital are on sale at Sherman Clay, Sutter and Kearny Sts., San Francisco, and St. Cyprian's Church, 2689 Sutter St. Because of the limited number of seats at the Playhouse, we would advise that reservations be made well in advance of the recital.

Mr. James is a member of St. Cyprian's. His wife is choir director and organist.

Book Notes

By the Faculty of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific
Edited by RANDOLPH CRUMP MILLER

The Presiding Bishop's book for Lent is WHICH WAY AHEAD? by Walter Russell Bowie (Harpers, $1.50, $1.25 in lots of ten.) It rings with the prophet's voice—a voice of hope and of doom, of hope if we find the way ahead and of doom if we drift back into our accustomed satisfaction with things as they are. The voice is of a modern prophet, but his message is as ageless as the prophets of the eighth century before Christ who reflect the eternal God. He is calling his Church to an urgent task in these times of "blitzkrieg" and change, to begin now to prepare itself for the age to come. "What the whole church will do or not do depends upon the quality of thinking and the intensity of conviction of every single minister. . . . It depends upon the intelligence, the clear-sightedness, and the clean will which lay people develop in the church and carry out of it to shape the mind and conscience of the community. Public opinion can be determined by their opinion: average people, all of them, except that they have let the dynamic of the thought of Christ get into them, so that their potential influence is no longer average." This involves many necessary changes in leadership, in the church's relation to God and man, and in its thinking.

The church is the custodian of eternal values, providing security and joy, showing us God in history, and containing the revelation that means revolution. But it is operating with many handicaps, such as inertia, satisfaction with the esthetic and emotional side of religion, fear of offending the "right people," going soft and not requiring disciplined devotion, and the uprising of a new and dangerous theology known as "neo-orthodoxy" which can become "the self-deception of men who think they are resting on the Lord when what they are doing is dodging responsibility."

This is truly a great book, sure to awaken the prophet's righteous indignation in the reader, calling the church itself to repentance, and showing the way to greater things to come.

LIBERAL THEOLOGY: AN APPRAISAL (Essays in Honor of Eugene W. Lyman), edited by David E. Roberts and Henry P. Van Dusen (Scribners, $2.50), should be read by people who think that liberalism is either a form of Unitarianism or false optimism or humanism, for they will discover that liberal Christians are seeking to discover, test, and state religious truth, and that liberalism has a long and respected history. Such men as the editors, John C. Bennett, A. C. McGiffert, Jr., Rufus Jones, William Adams Brown, and others have contributed to this excellent volume.

A little booklet called A POSITIVE WAY, by Theodore Ferris, rector of Phillips Brooks' Church in Boston, is a series of brief and pointed meditations, intended for both laity and clergy, on fundamentals of Christian belief, worship, and life as significant and vital in the world today. It is arranged particularly for Lenten study. (Church Congress, 12 W. 11th Street, New York City, 25c.)

House of Young Churchmen Convention

The Eighth Annual Convention of the House of Young Churchmen brought 150 representatives from 30 parishes and missions of the Diocese to St. Paul's Church, Burlingame, the week-end of February 20-21. New officers for the coming year are John Thayer, President, from St. Mark's Church, Berkeley; Mary Vickery, Vice-President, also from St. Mark's Church; and Beverly Conner, Secretary, from Trinity Church, San Jose.

About People

By JOHN P. CRAINE

When Bishop Block adjourned Convention, just as the gavel hit the table the carillon began to play "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow." And how!

* * *

Holding up election returns to the last minute kept many members of Convention in the Cathedral until the last moment. Curiosity works with children, too.

* * *

The Church Divinity School is in its fiftieth year. The celebration will probably be a Convocation with papers by the faculty, and perhaps later in the year a book containing the essays will be published.

* * *

At a recent Confirmation Service in the Church of the Incarnation, there was in the class a three-generation group—Mrs. Anna Muhlberg, her daughter, Mrs. Emilie Carril, and her granddaughter, Anna Ricca Carril.

* * *

An average of over $100 per month has poured into the St. Alban's, Albany, building fund during the past two years. Last year the income from bonds averaged $65 per month, and extra gifts averaged $40 per month. These extras come from "vocational" giving, inspired by Frank Sibilis. At last reports, little St. Alban's had over $2,700 in cash for this fund.

The loss of Prof. John C. Bennett, who goes to Union Seminary in July, will be felt by the entire Church on the Pacific Coast. In the five years he has been at the Pacific School of Religion, he has been one of the great leaders and a constant connection between the west coast and the ecumenical movement.

* * *

On your next visit to the library of Congress, be sure to look up the Congressional Record for January 20, 1943. The remarks of Congressman Richard J. Welch of that day pay tribute to the Rev. Dr. Paul Little for his long and faithful service as American Legion Chaplain, with particular reference to memorial services for the Legion conducted last Armistice Day. In fact, the whole sermon for that day was read into the record. Dr. Little recently received a citation from the Legion for twenty-five years' consecutive service as Chaplain.

* * *

Capt. Jack Ruggles of Trinity, San Francisco, again had the honor of serving as co-pilot for Prime Minister Winston Churchill, this time to Casablanca and Ankara. Mrs. Howard Ruggles, mother of Captain Jack, is a member of Trinity's choir and helps in the General Noble Center.

* * *

Friends of the Rev. P. M. Casady, rector of All Souls, Berkeley, enjoyed his recent letter from Africa, published in the San Francisco Chronicle. There were several good Casady shots fired.

Clergy of the Diocese serving with the armed forces include Chaplains A. V. Muray, David T. Gillmor, P. M. Casady, Lindley Miller, Betram F. Bleil and Henry B. Thomas. The Rev. Eric Jackson, who has served in the Diocese, though not canonically connected with us, is a Chaplain with the British tanker fleet.

C. D. S. P. Notes

The third quarter began on February 22. New students are Richard Trelease of West Missouri and Frank Harry Lash, Jr., of Los Angeles. Frederick Williams of the Diocese of California has returned after two quarters leave.

* * *

A course in Church Music is being given this quarter by the Rev. Walter Williams. The regular faculty continues as usual, including Dean Shires, Dr. Randolph Miller, Everett Bosshard, Bishop Parsons, George W. Morrell, Henry M. Shires, Dr. Pierson Parker, and Mrs. Henry Veazie. Canon C. Rankin Barnes of San Diego will give his annual lectures on pastoral care the first week in March.

* * *

Returns from Theological Sunday have already exceeded previous years, and some funds have not yet been collected.

Plans are progressing for the Jubilee celebration on Commencement Day, May 6. Watch for further announcements.
